Letters of Encouragement for Military Spouses

by Lizann Lightfoot

Encouraging ~ Informative ~ All Service Branches

This collection of letters for military spouses offers encouraging words and practical advice in a unique format. Readers choose topics and letters to read when they are facing specific military life situations, such as planning a military wedding, attending their first military ball, giving birth while a spouse is deployed, moving across country (or an ocean) on short notice, making friends in a new community, preparing to leave active duty, and many other moments in between.

Open When ...

-  You Love Someone in the Military
-  You Spend Your First Night Alone
-  You Feel Disconnected From Military Life
-  It's Time to Clean Out All the Stuff
-  Your Child Struggles in a New School
-  You Hit the Deployment Wall
-  You're the Seasoned Spouse

...and many more!

Military spouses often write "open when" letters for their service members to take with them when away from home. Lizann wanted to turn that encouragement back to her fellow military spouses, using the open when format to share friend-to-friend wisdom.

About the Author

Lizann Lightfoot is a professional writer, military spouse, and mother of five. Her Open When letters are based on her experiences as a girlfriend, fiancée, and wife through two decades of her Marine husband's service, seven deployments, and several military moves. She is known in the military community as The Seasoned Spouse for sharing her experience with other military loved ones on her blog of the same name.
